

Chamber seeking government change

by Dan Barber
Echo staff writer

The Hancock Chamber of Commerce took it upon themselves Tuesday night to initiate steps that would lead to a change in the form of government for the city of Bay St. Louis.

In what may be an unprecedented move among service organizations, the Chamber voted 12-3 to petition city officials of Bay St. Louis to voluntarily initiate action to convert from a mayor-council form of government to an aldermanic government.

Members of the Chamber proposing the change claim that the switch would streamline city operations in Bay St. Louis by eliminating separate budgets and intra-council feuding.

Three members abstained from voting for the resolution on grounds that they were not residents of the city of Bay St. Louis.

Although board members emphasized that their action was simply a request to city officials to initiate change, there remained the threat that board members would seek to force action through a public referendum should city officials decline action on the suggestion.

The Chamber voted to send a letter to city officials outlining the request and asking for "some answer" within 60 days in lieu of circulating petitions prematurely.

"The Chamber felt that city officials should be given the opportunity to undertake this change themselves," Chamber manager Sylvia McComiskey said.

Mrs. McComiskey said that the Chamber was uncertain whether any change could be made before the expiration of elected officials' terms of office, but added the Chamber did not want to wait until 1977 to see steps taken.

City officials have approximately two and one-half years remaining in office. Reaction at city hall to the Chamber's stand was split.

Mayor Warren Carver said that he was strictly in favor of the change. "I definitely think it's what we need," Carver said. He added he did not think the council could step down from office before its term expired, however.

Carver said he felt an election could be held in the meantime and, if an aldermanic form of government were approved, implemented in July 1977.

Reaction from utility commissioner Lucien Kidd was not so kind. Kidd labeled the Chamber action as a

"power grab" by certain individuals in the Chamber.

"It's just a shame," Kidd said, "that they can lead good citizens down the path."

Kidd said that the Chamber, which receives a yearly stipend of $1,200, might be in for a "rude awakening" next year at budget time.

Kidd added he thought the Chamber should "get out of politics" and that any suggestion to adopt an aldermanic government would be like moving backward.

"You usually go from a mayor-council government to a city manager type of government," Kidd said, "but this would be like going in the opposite way. The magnitude of this city government won't allow it."

Kidd refuted the Chamber's claim that the city operated under three departments.

"There's no such thing as three departments," he said. "There's one department that is divided into three departments."

Commissioner of Finance Clarence Ladner said that he had not had sufficient time to examine the Chamber proposal.

"Yes, I'm aware of it," Ladner said Wednesday morning, but I have not decided as yet whether I would be in favor of it."

Earlier in Tuesday night's Chamber meeting, E. J. Marcano told board members that a resolution had been received in Jackson, Miss., that the county would get a hospital center at the U.S. Hwy 807 and I-10 junction. Marcano said that the meeting with representatives of the state A&I Board, Senator Martin Smith, and E. J. L.

Bank robber still at large

Leroy Migue's horoscope for Thursday read: "Moves made today will yield permanent improvements."

Apparently taking his horoscope seriously, Migue, well-known in the Pass Christian area as "The Gasser"

Migue instructed her to hurry up and take care of the customer.

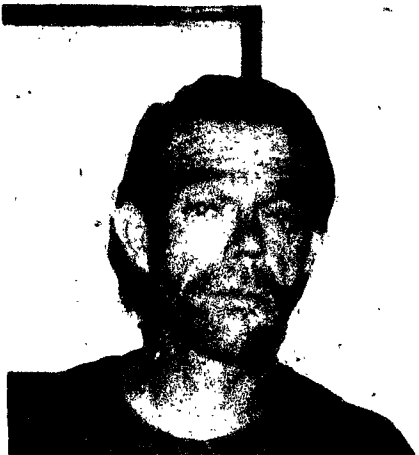

Migue, reportedly said, "Everyone in here knows me. I don't want to hurt anyone." Miss Price said that he cocked his gun and pointed it at the manager, saying that he would kill him if anyone tried anything.

Both bank tellers, Miss Price and Betty Dyess, reported having seen Migue earlier that day driving slowly by the bank's drive-in window in a light blue car.

The tellers were told to back off from their cages and "clean out their money drawers." Page said that Migue had ordered him into the vault to get the money in the safe.

While the manager was in the vault, a customer walked into the bank and, unaware of what was happening around him, began writing a check. Migue allegedly walked around the customer and stuck the pistol in his ribs.

Bank personnel said that he made no attempt to disguise himself. In fact, when he entered the bank he grinned at the two bank tellers and waved to them, they reported. At the bank manager's desk Migue pulled out a .45 automatic pistol from under his shirt and said to Manager Wayne Page, "This is a heist." Page said that the robber then told him to back away from the desk and not to "push any buttons."

One of the bank tellers, Catherine Price, was at the drive-in window with a customer when Page and Migue started walking toward her. She said

School loan passes

A unanimous vote Friday by the Bay St. Louis city council ratified a request from the city school board to borrow $30,300 on a short term loan to pay for equipment and repairs at three of the city schools.

Mayor Warren Carver, who had initially objected to the loan agreed to the action at Friday's meeting, giving as his reason the right of the school district electorate to petition for a public vote on the matter.

Commissioner Lucien Kidd presented a statement of clarification on each line item of the proposed loan at the opening of the meeting (see statement in full Page A-2). Vindicating his position in support of the loan, Kidd said "when you have a plant worth $2,363 million you have to spend money to keep it up."

In authorizing the indebtedness, Kidd continued, the city council is complying with the law. "Waveland didn't do it, the (Bay St. Louis) city council is doing what the law says we must do," Kidd said emphatically, referring to recent resolutions of objection from the Waveland council to accepting the original school budget and to the Bay council's increase in tax assessments to meet the budget.

Defending his stand, the mayor said, "when you're dealing with a system that is spending about $1.3 million a year you should investigate and check every item carefully."

He was not objecting to the acquisition of needed equipment and repairs for the schools, Mayor Carver said, but to increasing the indebtedness of the system which, with the loan under discussion, would total about $58,000.

Commissioner Clarence Ladner asked if the council would be agreeable to picking top priority items for acceptance immediately and acquiring the balance later. Expressing some misgivings about the additional indebtedness, Ladner said "I don't see how I can vote for this and not support it."

If it goes to a public vote, he added, and passes he will support it.

Yielding to a request from Ladner to relinquish the chair, Mayor Carver made the motion to accept the loan. The motion passed unanimously.

October 14 was set as the deadline for accepting a petition from 20 percent or more of qualified district voters to put the loan on public vote.

In a related matter, the mayor asked

Kidd if he had yet received a monthly statement of receipts and disbursements from the superintendent, also required by state statute. Kidd said he expected the statement in the next week or so, but since school had just opened there wouldn't have been time for a full statement.

That was no excuse, the mayor retorted, as teachers are paid every month and the fiscal year for the school began in July, warranting a statement in August. Kidd gave as the reason for delay that "they were doing it all wrong" and the statement had to be redone.

pointed out, was that the city would be granted more fire insurance rebates from the state and more representation in the state legislature. If Long Beach has an official population of at least 10,000, the city would be allowed a retirement program for the city policemen and firemen. The U.S. Bureau of the Census estimates Long Beach's at 11,000. This is an increase of 4,500 since the last census in 1970.

The city also approved on a six month trial basis a non-paying police cadet program. To be eligible, a man must be between 16 and 21 years old.

The board also voted for a special census that will cost the city $5,010. The reason for the census, as Maxwell

TAG NOTICES, some 10,000 of them, are boxed by Hancock County tax assessor-collector George Heitzmann, second from right, and his staff Friday. The staff has been working to get the notices in the mail by last Monday and are now preparing for the onslaught of county residents coming in to get their 1975 vehicle license plates. The tax office will be open during the lunch hour as well as Saturday mornings until noon to accommodate residents.

Tags shipped to counties

State Motor Vehicle Comptroller Doxey Fisher announced that his agency had ordered a record 1,709,881 vehicle license plates for the coming tag year as compared to 1,641,364 ordered in 1974. The 1975 plates will have a brilliant white background with red letters and numerals. Colors of the National Guard plates will be reversed. Fisher also emphasized that the plates would be reflectorized

as they have been since 1972. The only change in the alpha numeric system is that an "R" tag has been added and will be issued to all pickup trucks in the 6,000 to 10,000 lb. weight class, replacing the old "P-6" and "F-6" tag. "We have begun shipping the license plates to the tax collectors' offices of the 82 counties throughout the state. The tags will go on sale at these offices and at MVC

October 1, as required by law," said Comptroller Fisher. Notices went in the mail Monday from Hancock County tax assessor-collector George Heitzmann to county residents that tags will be available Oct. 1 in the county court house. A new system initiated this year will greatly expedite license plate purchases, Heitzmann said.

New Orleans youths sought for burglaries

Waveland police have issued warrants for the arrest of four Louisiana juveniles, wanted for one count of auto theft, four counts of burglary, one count of grand larceny and one count of petty larceny. The four juvenile males, whom police say live in Gretna, a New Orleans suburb, are being sought for the theft of a quantity of articles from four Waveland residences, committed in the period of Sept. 12 through 18. According to Waveland Patrolman Terry Holmes, the four boys, aged 16 and 17, broke into a summer residence at 412 Pine St., where they stayed for three days and consumed a quantity of canned foodstuffs. From a home at 406 Pine St. they stole numerous bottles of assorted whiskeys; from 418 Pine St. owners reported missing $400 worth of linens, about $20 in frozen foods and assorted wines and whiskeys. At a Surf St. address, the youths took about $20 in canned goods. Later, they took gas from the Majik Mart self-service station on Waveland Ave. and left without paying.

Long Beach man killed in collision

by David Pierson
Long Beach Bureau
Daniel Garlotte, 20 of 204 Sedgewick Drive, was killed Friday night in a two car accident at the intersection of Pineville and Mitchell Roads. The Harrison County Sheriff's Department said that apparently Garlotte, driving a red 1970 Maverick, ran a stop sign while traveling north on Mitchell Road, striking a blue Ford Torino, driven by Mrs. Nita Morrison, in the left front section of her car and driving it into a telephone pole.

Mrs. Morrison, 43, of Rt. 1, Box 135 Long Beach, was taken to the Seabee Base Hospital by Mobile-Medic Ambulance Service where she received emergency treatment for severe lacerations of the face and body. She was later transferred to Keesler Air Force Base Hospital where she was listed in serious condition. Garlotte was taken to Gulfport Memorial Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival. Police efforts to extricate Mrs. Morrison, who was trapped inside her car, and Garlotte, who was lying in the front seat of his car, were hampered by uncooperative bystanders. Police reports indicate that there were broken power lines hanging from the telephone pole that Mrs. Morrison's car struck causing a hazard to bystanders. According to police reports, at least one bystander was arrested for interference. Investigating officers were Captain Sylvester Alexander and Auxiliary Deputy Robert Weatherbee, both of Harrison County Sheriff's Office. They were assisted by Long Beach police units.

Finger print dusting

A Federal Bureau of Investigation agent dusts the door of the vault at Gulf National Bank in Pass Christian for fingerprints after the Thursday armed robbery of the bank. Bank officials and employees identified the robber as Pass Christian resident Leroy Miguels.

Bank robber . . .

He ordered the customer and the two tellers over to the vault. After taking the money from the manager he ordered all four of them to go inside the vault and get down on their hands and knees. As she was doing so, Miss Price recalled, "I was really saying my prayers because I knew him and I knew that Wayne (the manager) knew him."

Bobbing Vick. The two were last seen driving away in a Blue Ford.

The Vick woman's last known address is Gulfport.

Miguels left and after several minutes Page set off the burglar alarm. He later told police that Miguels appeared to be drunk, and Miss Price agreed, saying that Miguels changed his mind three times about instructions to the tellers.

Miguels and the Vick woman are still at large, having eluded an all points police alert and road blocks at all main highways out of the city. Federal warrants were filed before U.S. Magistrate William M. Rainey at Gulfport, charging both Miguels and Vick with violation of the Federal Bank Robbery Statute.

Another bank official told reporters that the bank cameras were not turned on during the robbery. According to witnesses Miguels returned to the bar for his female companion, Ilene Miguels, who is 41 years old, weighs 150 pounds and is 5'11" tall. He has long brown hair and a mustache and goatee. He also has a two inch scar across his forehead. When last seen, he was wearing a dungaree shirt and pants. Mrs. Vick, who is 21 years old, is 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighs 115 pounds, and has green eyes and shoulder-length brown hair.

Lover don't bug me!

Some people find it amusing keeping an eye on the love-bug situation! J.E. Lolacano III obviously isn't letting the problem bug him.

Some thoughts on the love-bug crisis

by David Pierson
Long Beach Bureau

As I write these words, a black and orange, two-headed bug is trying to walk across my desk. The two parts are pulling in opposite directions; so the bug(s) ends up going in a direction that neither wants. Yes, I'm speaking of the infamous love-bug. More irritating than the flu bug, uglier than the car it is named after.

Just the mention of this weird insect makes many sane people start speaking in foreign tongues, saying things that are heard only on the shipping wharfs. These wild-eyed, just-a-second-ago-sane, people will point at their new cars and say something like, "%%! love-bugs! %%!"

Invariably on the front of their cars will be the broken bodies of hundreds of these insects. And smeared across the windshields will be the final remains of countless more. These angry people will probably grab one (or should I say, two) of the love-bugs out of the air and hold them for a second. At that moment, they consider several different tortures: like holding the bug over a burning match or maybe drowning the hapless thing or even rolling them into tiny balls. But then a twisted, evil smile will creep across their faces. They pull the bugs apart - then they roll them into a tiny ball.

Love-bugs don't always bring out the worst in us, however; sometimes they reveal our funny side. Such was the case with a friend of mine this weekend.

He was loading his car for a picnic, but the confounded bugs were everywhere - under the potato salad wrappings, everywhere. In frustration, he grabbed two of the badminton rackets from his car trunk and started swatting at the bugs. You really must see a grown man playing badminton all by himself without a birdie.

Obviously, my badminton friend knew that it was useless trying to kill them with insecticides. When you spray the insecticide into an oncoming barrage of love-bugs, you may kill the front half of each one; but then the co-pilot takes over, continuing the assault.

In spite of everything, there are several advantages to love-bugs. For one thing, they are doing wonders for our gasoline conservation. Many drivers will slow down to 20 or 30 miles an hour when passing through a particularly dense area. One person I knew even took up bicycling to work, until he got tired of swallowing the insects with every gasp of air.

My wife and I have made a game out of the love-bug situation. When we get into the car and start off, I point out one of the love-bugs on my side of the windshield, and she picks one on her side. Qualifications: (1) Both bugs of the love bug unit must be alive, and (2) they cannot be near the windshield wipers.

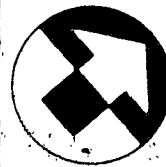

You start the car, and the bug that hangs on longer, wins. As a rule of thumb, the best bugs can hold on at 45 miles an hour. Most are blown away by 50. My wife recently had a bug that held on until we reached 54 miles an hour, a record of sorts.

Of course, the record will vary from car to car, depending upon the angle of the car's windshield. By the way, it should be noted that this is an excellent game to play as you drive along at the new speed limits.

If you cannot bring yourself to play badminton or any other games with the bugs, then I guess you will have a hard time tolerating the love-bug crisis. But remember, things could be a lot worse. Think of the poor Egyptians in the Bible, the Plague of the Insects was just one of ten.

City school loan itemized

NOTE: Bay St. Louis Commissioner Lucien Kidd has issued the following explanation concerning the loan for capital improvements requested by the city school board. The statement is reprinted verbatim:

In an effort to clarify the proposal of the Bay Saint Louis Municipal Separate School Systems Board of Trustees request for a short term loan of $30,300 for capital improvements to the school district plants.

In the original budget proposal submitted to the Commission Council, the above mentioned amount of $30,300 was included in the operational expenses of the school system.

At a meeting of the school board, Mr. John May, representing Moore & Powell C. P. A. Firm, recently engaged by the Board as auditors of the school system examined the proposed budget and noted that the items listed below were not operational expenses but were considered as capital improvements to the plants and recommended that these items be removed from the operational budget and placed under Short Term Capital Improvements Fund which under law, can be paid from the special two mills (2) levy that was reduced to one and one half (1 1/2) mills which will take care of this capital improvement along with the expenditure that was made on Bay Junior High School in 1972.

The line items that were proposed in the $30,300 proposal are as follows:

Item 1 - Replacement of the auditorium seats - $10,000. Note that these existing seats were originally installed in 1926 and are 48 years old and in deplorable condition.

Item 2 - Communication System - $3,300. This system is to replace the 30 year old existing (inoperational) units which keeps the main office of the Junior High in contact with all personnel and students. It gives the office immediate contact with them in event of problems, warnings and vital information for efficient contact at the plant (school).

Item 3 - Renovation - North Bay Playground - $8,000. This item has been proposed numerous times. It pertains to the area west of the North Bay Elementary School that the 640 students use as a playground. The playground is constantly under water during wet weather due to the poor drainage and as a result the students are held in the class rooms due to the water and mud conditions. This causes undue hardship to the students, teachers and parents of these students. Plans and specifications are on file for this proposed improvement.

Item 4 - Clamshell and top soil - $2,000. These items are used to repair and maintain the parking area at Bay Senior High, roads around the school area and Bay High Football Stadium. Bid prices on clamshell is $5.00 per yard, top soil $3.00 per yard.

Item 5 - Chair-desks, filing cabinets, typewriters, etc. (refrigerators, lawn mowers) - $4,000. Based on prior experience this figure represents a ball park estimate for replacement of equipment from fair wears and tear in the entire school system. (4 schools)

Item 6 - Sewerage connection, Bay High Stadium - $3,000. The present Ladies and Mens Rest Stations at the stadium are sewered by a septic tank and shell drain and this drain extends to the north from the existing buildings. The present drains are inadequate to handle the present use and as a result, is causing a health hazard in the area. It is proposed to tie these buildings into the sewage system which will relieve this condition. Plans and specifications have been made and are on file for this proposal.

Total cost of these proposals amount to $30,300 and can be accomplished under the present adopted 1 1/2 mills which has been adopted under state laws based on present assessment. These improvements will be paid off in two years.

In a final analysis of the above proposed improvements to the school system facilities. The Bay St. Louis Separate School District Board of Trustees have met and reviewed the above recommendations of the school administration and they adopted these proposals, passing their recommendations on to the Bay St. Louis City Council for action.

Under the laws of the state of Mississippi, it is required that the Bay St. Louis Commission Council present this resolution to the qualified voters of the municipal school district by notice in the local newspaper. If twenty (20) percent of the qualified voters petition the City to call an election (at the expense of the Winning students named in Constitution contest

Peter Bernheim of St. Stanislaus, Edwin Goodwin of Gulfview, Charlie Balch of Coast Episcopal High, were named winners in the Sea Coast Echo-sponsored essay open to all schools in the Hancock and Harrison Counties.

Judges, who wish to remain anonymous, were out-of-area ladies who had no children in any school. Each winner will receive a metrolone record album I BELIEVE IN AMERICA narrated by Fredric March and with Robert Merrill as soloist.

How is a contest judged?

"In our case it was judged on the point system," explained the judges. Points were counted for originality, accuracy of statement, sentence construction, spelling and punctuation, neatness and age of contestant.

"In a contest such as this everyone is, in reality, a winner!" exclaimed one of the judges. "The schools having students who entered the contest and each student entering the contest, has won our respect and deep appreciation. These schools have teachers who are an inspiration to their students and are helping students to discover what it means to live in America."

In further explaining the winners another judge remarked that each person who entered the contest was a winner because of the research needed and the effort involved in writing the essay. "We understand," said one judge, "that the four winning papers will be printed in the Echo." The following are some runners-up who did outstanding work!

Doris LaFontaine, a 7th grade student in Gulfview, wrote "The Constitution was made up in Philadelphia in 1787 and the first ten Amendments - or Bill of Rights, have proven the most enduring and workable document ever written." A good strong sentence.

Brian Boudro, also of Gulfview had a refreshing approach when he wrote: "The Preamble to the Constitution was written to introduce people to the Constitution." And Brian Shivers of that school had an excellent closing sentence which we quote: "In my opinion our country would not be the great place to live it is today if it had not been for our Constitution."

St. Stanislaus had some fine runners-up, too. Jay Tassin wrote: "Our forefathers were wise enough to look ahead, for to this date very few changes have had to be made." Kerry Cass' entry almost won with his sentence: "Every citizen has the responsibility to obey, protect and preserve the

ED. NOTE: The following are the four winning essays in the Constitution Week contest sponsored by the Echo under the auspices of the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Winners may pick up their albums at the Echo office any weekday until 5 p.m.

The quality of all essays was such that the Echo sincerely regrets that, due to the large number submitted, it is impossible to reprint all of them.

The Constitution is the foundation of law in these United States. It is the rights of citizens like you and me.

The Constitution isn't selective in people, for under the constitution all people, regardless of race, creed, sex, or other factors, are equal.

It is the seal over our country for just and honest laws, and is so arranged that no tyrant can rule our great nation.

Honesty, justice, and fairness are the backbone of our constitution.

In many other less fortunate countries, people are forced to do things against their will. The constitution won't let this happen in our country.

Even though many things are wrong with our country, there are also many, many more things right. The constitution keeps it that way.

Edwin Goodwin
Gulfview School

The Constitution is an outline of the basic laws of our country. It applies to every person. The constitution states our legal rights and laws, and it tells officials what they are to do. I myself don't fully understand the U.S. Constitution, but with due respect I believe in it.

Peter Bernheim
St. Stanislaus

The United States was not working very effectively under the Articles of Confederation, because the State had all the power. There was not a central government tying them all together.

The States were running themselves, and this wasn't working.

So the Founding Fathers gathered to create a national government in the form of a document that would become the supreme law of the land. This way all States would be united under one document that contained all the laws of the land.

This document ruled over all the State governments, and the three branches of the government were formed to cover three different areas: the Executive Branch, which executes, enforces, and administers the laws; the Legislative Branch, which makes the laws; and the Judicial Branch, which interprets and applies the laws.

The Constitution was a great step in the beginning of our United States; it was the turning point in the creation of a united government. Finally the States were working together. They were no longer separate systems working against each other - they were the United States of America.

Other speakers will include Michael Straight, deputy chairman, National Endowment for the Arts; Ron Stegal of the Department of Housing and Urban Development; and Mary Brooks, director of the U.S. Mint. Senator Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska will deliver the keynote address.

The ten States involved are Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah and Wyoming.

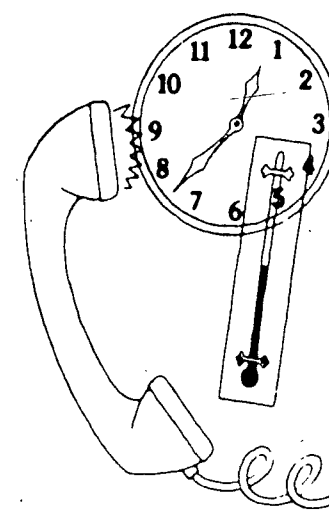

Agenda items include the ARBA's Bicentennial Communities Program, which gives national recognition to community Bicentennial efforts and examples and

GOOD NEWS Youths start own detente

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

The American-Soviet detente is spilling over to the youth of the two great powers - the generation which will supply leaders of the United States and the Soviet Union in the next 10 to 20 years.

Unheralded at the time by the news media, more than 50 young Americans recently attended the third annual Young People's Conference in the Russian city of Baku.

The delegation came home reporting an agreement with the Soviet government to create new communication lines between the students of the USSR and the United States - a youth detente which could have significant meanings by the 1980s and beyond.

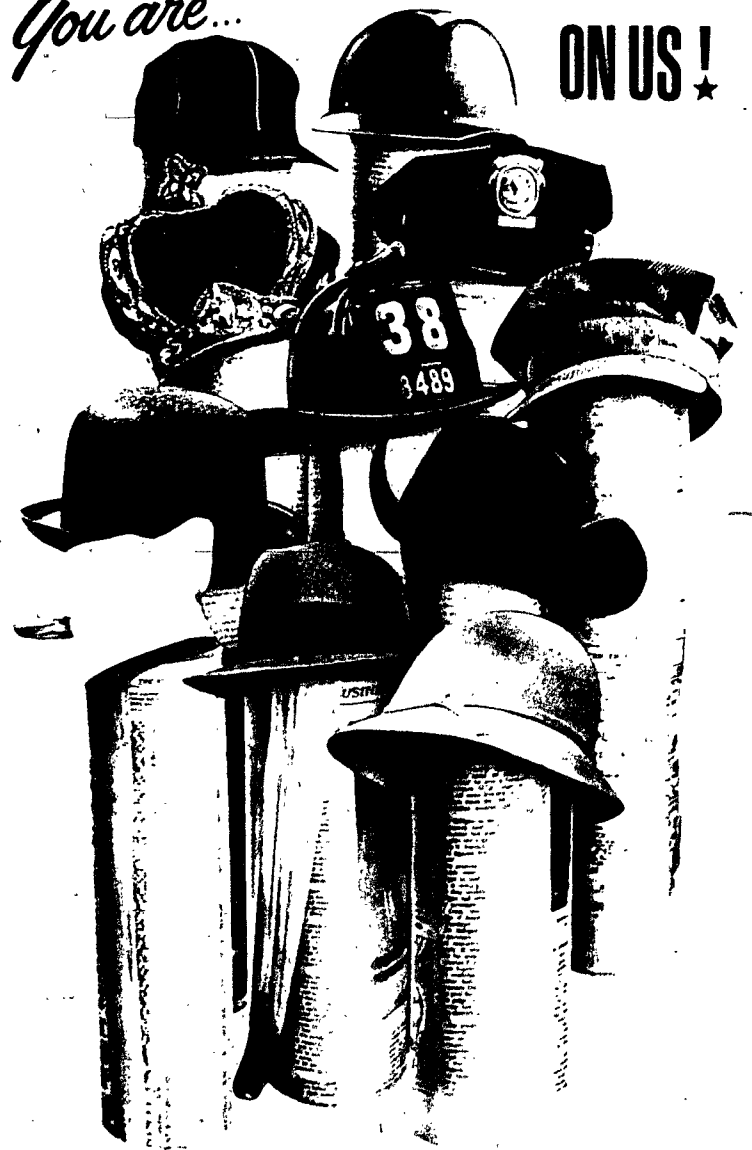

Three of the American delegates represented the Federation of Americans Supporting Science and Technology (FASST), a swiftly growing, science-oriented group of U.S. students across the land.

The FASST delegates - Leonard David of San Diego, Calif., Leon Osborne of White Deer, Tex., and Roger Guisinger of Kalamazoo, Mich., - discussed with Soviet officials a whole range of U.S. Soviet youth programs involving weather forecasting, energy, food, oceanography, earth resources and environmental protection.

The delegates also said they got approval from Russian officials of two specific proposals, one calling for an exchange of young people during the launches of the mid-1975 linkup of manned U.S. and Soviet spacecraft in earth orbit, the other the youth-directed design of international satellites. Guisinger, meanwhile, has been invited by the Soviet government to represent FASST at an international conference at Nakhod, Siberia.

It will discuss the role of youth in the relaxation of world tension, along with the security and development of cooperation among nations along the Pacific Ocean Basin.

State Attorney General A. F. Summer is deep in conversation with Miss Gertrude Perkins during his visit to Coast cities last week. Summer and his staff set up offices in the county court house in Bay St. Louis Thursday.

Attorney General visits Coast

Thursday Attorney General A.F. Summer was at the Hancock County Court House to visit the local citizens and to talk about the new Consumer Protection Act. This Act authorizes his office to seek court injunctions against fraudulent practices and companies.

Summer said that Mississippi is one of the last four states to pass some kind of consumer protection legislation. Some states have had this for the past five years.

He said that although his office is understaffed and cannot represent private individuals in recovering their money, he will try to put fraudulent operations out of business. He also said he will send out a newsletter each week that will inform the public on certain unfair trade practices.

If anyone has a complaint concerning an unfair business practice, he should contact the attorney general's office by writing to either Marshall Bennett or Investigator Phil Hardwick.

The attorney general cited his recent action to show how the new Act is supposed to work. The day before his visit here, his office filed a suit against the Quality Meats Company of Ocean Springs for what he called "unfair and deceptive trade practices."

The suit seeks an injunction on Quality Meats because of their advertising practices and because they did not have a license to operate. Quality Meats had advertised beef for 59 cents a pound, but Summer said that the price was misleading because it was "hanging weight" - that is, the weight of the meat before it is cut and trimmed. Summer also claimed that Quality Meats practiced the "bait and switch" tactic where the dealer advertised meat at bargain prices; but, when the customer comes into the store to buy the discounted meat, the dealer disparages the product and then tries to sell a higher priced beef.

Summer visited Coast cities last week in a new program of bringing the attorney general's office to the coast for personal contact with area citizens. Summer and his staff went to Biloxi Friday.

Theatre to hold tryouts

Some 35 area residents, interested in the welfare of the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre and the continuation of the theatre's programs, gathered at the playhouse on Boardman St. Tuesday evening to discuss plans for a fund raising production, to be staged some time in October.

Also brought for discussion was the final play of the season, a trilogy of one act comedies to be directed by Mary Carter. The Ethel and Albert comedies, which received wide popularity as a radio series in the '40's and as a television series in the '50's, is scheduled for some time in mid November.

Tryouts for the trilogy will be held Sunday night starting at 8 p.m. at the theatre. Casting calls for an adult man and wife and two other characters. Tryouts are open to the general public. Season memberships for Little Theatre will remain at $8 each and will be on sale at the theatre during the run of the Ethel and Albert comedies.

Stanislaus to host conference

The Southern Unit of the Catholic Business Education Association will hold its Fall Conference at St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis October 12.

The one-day conference will begin with registration at 8 a.m. in the school lobby. The theme of this year's conference is "Meaningful and Contemporary Preparation of Business Students."

Opening address will be given by Dr. Annette Bonner, chairman of the department of Business Education at the University of Southern Mississippi.

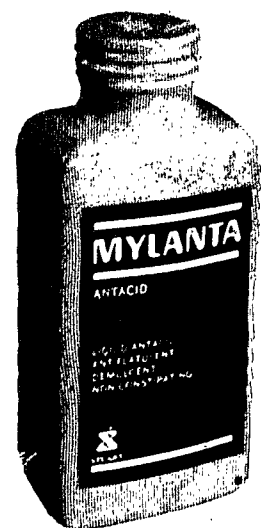

Phil Bradshaw, vice-president of admissions at Phillips College, will speak on the topic of "Preparing Students for Post Secondary Secretarial Studies."

Brother Remigius David, associate professor of Accounting at Southeastern Louisiana University will speak concerning "Preparing Students for Post Secondary Accounting Studies."

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

"The swallows are making them
ready to fly.

Wheeling out on a windy sky:
Goodbye, Summer, goodbye, goodbye."

"A long time ago an Italian composer named Tosti put some beautiful music to these words, a sort of requiem for a dear friend.

For summer has left us now; you can actually feel fall in the air, see it in the browning leaves and the brilliant autumnal blossoms, and smell it in the angry exhalations of dying plants and bark. The year is rapidly running its course, past perky spring and fulsome summer, and is getting ready with a sigh for its long winter's nap.

Have you noticed that stillness in mid-afternoon, when

"Über allem Wipfelst spurest du Kaum einen Hauch.

Die Vögelchen schweigen im Walde—"
It has been a lovely summer, by and large. The weather was near-perfect, gardens flourished, the fish co-operated, and our only troubles were man-made. It was a summer for leisurely driving down the shaded avenues of the Trace, or contemplating the dim glories of Fortress Vicksburg, or poking about the Indian mounds in the piney woods, or feeling the gentle waves lift us as we lazed in the cool water along the sandy shore.

But now, all that is past. The ripening red berries of the Christmas plant remind us that crisp breezes, perhaps even frost and snow, will soon be our daily fare. It is time now to be up and doing, and there is a plenty to be done!
Seems like the cooling weather generates energy in the bad and the good alike, and it's always the bad that comes to the surface first and must be combated. This is what is called "coming to the Red Sea place" in your life.

... where, in spite of all you can do,
There is no way out,
There is no way back.

There is no other way but through."
So plunge in bravely! You may not win, but there is always the chance that as the waters deepen, some God-sent miracle will happen and suddenly the path will be clear and open to the shore of peace and happiness.

A CHANGING WORLD

Draft dodgers find validity in Nixon pardon

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Editor,
Copley News Service

The worst thing President
Ford did in granting a "full,
free and absolute pardon" to Richard Nixon was give a certain degree of legitimacy to the arrogance of many draft dodgers and deserters who re-vile the country of their birth
in a demand for unconditional amnesty.

There are many ramifications of the Ford Sept. 8 amnesty announcement in favor of the former president and most of them have seen public print by now. Spiro Agnew must have some second thoughts about his no contest
plea and conviction of a tax fraud felony, a bit of plea bargaining that resulted in resignation of the vice presidency, disbarment, probation and loss of certain constitutional rights, including the right to vote.

He may understandably say to himself, "Why didn't I get a little tougher with Nixon when I was doing my bargaining?"

There also are some very famous names that may wonder about American justice —
"every man equal under the law." This list is long — John Mitchell, Richard Kleindienst, Maurice Stans, H. R.
Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, Charles W. Colson, John W. Dean, Jeb S. Magruder,
Robert C. Mardian, Egil
Krogh, Gordon Strachan,
Dwight L. Chapin, Kenneth
W. Parkinson, Herbert L.
Porter, Frederick C. LaRue,
Herbert Kalmbach, Donald Segretti, and others. They all were either very close or reasonably close to Nixon, and they either have served prison terms, are serving such terms, are awaiting sentencing or awaiting trial.

The crimes that have caused them trouble are closely associated with what Nixon has called his own
"mistakes in judgment." Mr.
Ford's description was a bit different:

"Offenses against the United States which he, Richard Nixon, has committed or may have committed or may have taken part in."
Many of those protesting the "unconditional amnesty"
given Nixon might have swallowed Mr. Ford's action better if he had forced the former president to admit some degree of guilt — a guilt which is clear even if based on June 23, 1972, tapes alone — rather than merely regret "mistakes in judgment."

Even the most ardent Nixon-haters, in most cases, would not want to see this man go to jail. Although he lied to the American people, lied to his family, lied to his lawyers and, in effect, lied to the court, he is the same man who brought American peace to Vietnam, and detente with Red China and the Soviet Union. Most Americans, while perhaps not willing to forgive,
have been willing to forget.
All they wanted was an admission of guilt, a substantial word of contrition.

The admission of guilt still has not come and without it,
some cannot help but be reminded of Nixon's own words

spoken about deserters and draft dodgers seeking amnesty: "Now, amnesty means forgiveness for them. ...
Those who deserted must pay the price. ... The price is a criminal penalty for disobeying the laws of the United States."

Mr. Ford, on amnesty, speaks of the violators working their way back into American society with some kind of national service. He did not ask Nixon to work his way back into society. Instead he relieved him of responsibility for transgressions before the American public had a chance to learn from indictment,
trial, hearing or confession
just what the transgressions were.

This relief of responsibility is just what the most militant
of the deserters and draft dodgers are demanding, even as they mouth words of hatred
for the country they ask to excuse them for violations of the law.

Some deserters and draft dodgers would jump at the chance to return to loved ones in exchange for some kind of service, but they are not the ones concerned with Mr.
Ford's pardon of Nixon.

It is the group that demands unconditional forgiveness —
even justification of defying the laws of the nation — that is concerned. Up to now they have not had a moral or legal leg to stand on. Now, with Nixon granted blanket immunity even before judicial action of any kind has been taken, they have won a degree of validity, and it's too bad.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITOL

from U.S. SENATOR
JOHN STENNIS

Senator John C. Stennis said that speculation about inferiority of U.S.
Naval strength is "false" and could encourage the Soviet Navy "to react recklessly or belligerently."

In a Senate speech, Senator Stennis,
Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, challenged "alarmist" assertions that the balance of naval power "has shifted in favor of the Russians."

Senator Stennis stressed that the United States has no plans or desire to wage war against anyone. Referring, however, to "reports, publications and statements" alleging that the naval power balance has shifted to Russia, he said:

"I think the thrust of these charges is false. Moreover, these charges can be dangerous since they undermine U.S.
naval power in the eyes of our Allies,
our own seamen and the American people, and could encourage the Soviet Navy to react recklessly or belligerently."

"On a navy-to-navy basis, the Soviet Navy does not match the capability of the U.S. Navy," Senator Stennis said, adding that the U.S. fleet should be able to fulfill its missions except under "the most adverse and extreme circumstances" such as a massive land-based air attack without adequate air support.

Asserting that both have their limitations, Senator Stennis dealt specifically with "misleading" comparisons made between Soviet and U.S.
Navies. While it is asserted that the Russians have roughly four times as many ships, he said, the U.S. has more than twice the Soviet tonnage in major combat vessels, and the U.S. carrier force alone "represents more tonnage than the entire Soviet fleet of major surface combatants."

"Admiral Zumwalt, former chief of Naval Operations, in testimony to the Senate Armed Services Committee this year, reaffirmed that the Soviet Navy still 'does not match the capability of the U.S. Navy on a side-by-side basis,'" the Senator said.

Comparing strike potential, Senator Stennis said the Soviet Navy "has no significant sea-based air power and no major amphibious assault forces." He said the Russian aircraft carrier now under construction lacks the capability of an attack carrier "and could probably be categorized as a non-combatant."

"Several other navies of the world have attack carriers and hence a greater strike capability than the Soviets in this area. The British and French have particularly effective carrier forces," the Senator said. He described U.S. carrier forces as "unmatched... by far the most potent strike force on the seas."

Senator Stennis noted that Congress has authorized a number of programs for fleet modernization and improvement — including the first four of an anticipated 50 patrol frigates and the projected Harpoon surface-to-surface missile. The high performance F-14 fighter plane is now joining the fleet, he said.

"I think that for some time some of those who are overzealous or over-concerned or have something to sell, have oversold the strength of our possible adversaries and have undersold our own strength," Senator Stennis said.

"I do not accept the myth of a second-class U.S. Navy," he declared.

Hancock Chamber Report

Nicholas Haas, president, and E. J.
Marengo, chairman of the I-10 Committee of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, met in Jackson September 20 with E. L. Boteler, director of the Mississippi State Highway Department.

Also attending were Highway Department traffic and safety engineers, Senator Martin Smith and representatives of the Mississippi A & I Board. The meeting had been called by the Chamber to clarify the status of the I-10 hospitality booth at Highway 607 and also to determine the status of an Interstate sign promoting our area.

We are pleased to announce that a billboard sign will be erected at the Highway 607 Exit on I-10 reading
"Gulfport-Biloxi-Mobile Gulf Coast Scenic Route - Next Right". This sign will have night reflectors and will be very beneficial to tourist traffic for Hancock County.

The status of the Hospitality Booth is encouraging. The site (Highway 607 and I-10) consisting of 63 acres, will have parking for 250 automobiles, 50
truck and camper trailer parking bays, along with picnic areas and the hospitality building. Site preparation will begin in April of 1975 and actual construction will begin in June of 1975.

We feel that a long struggle for a Hospitality Center in a feasible location to benefit Hancock County has met with success and we are very pleased with the results.

An Invitation To Help - RSVP

(Ed. Note: This is another of a continuing series of articles on RSVP. Retired Senior Volunteer Program, serving Hancock County. The series is authored by Mrs. Ethel Evans, a member of the organization, and the accompanying cartoons are by Mrs. Bertha Giani of Pass Christian.)

A very interesting article appeared in a recent newspaper which was titled "Senility: Inevitable or a Matter of Choice." It described two entirely different life-styles of two ladies of the same age.

One is pictured as being resigned to a life of inactivity and boredom, with most of her day occupied with watching television. She has an occasional visitor, but is a little vague about exactly who they are, and forgets them moments after they leave. She is suffering from senility. Our sketch shows this poor soul in her wheelchair...inactive and sad.

A nearby neighbor lives a life of activity, not only for herself but also for others; tremendously interested in her garden, she is frequently seen working in it; she is a student at a nearby college, where she is taking French lessons and making the highest marks in her class, even though competing with classmates in their twenties; she spends several days a week visiting shut-ins, or chauffeuring someone to the doctor or dentist. Our sketch shows her at work helping in her town's RSVP office...active - busy - happy.

Dr. Stonecipher, Jr., whose study of the problems of senile mental patients led him to write a book "Getting Older and Staying Young" conveys the message that mental and physical deterioration is not inevitable with aging. He cites the fact that many men and women in their 80's, 90's, and even 100's are quick-witted and vigorous, and believes it is the direct result of their keeping active as the years pile up.

"The inertia of the old" he terms a psychological disease brought on by discouragement and estrangement from normal living. He is committed to educating the public to the fact that a normal old age is possible.

Eighteen years of research and thousands of scientific studies have led this eminent doctor to the belief that people's minds do not have to get foggy, nor their bodies fail to respond to the urge to go about daily activities with enthusiasm and energy.

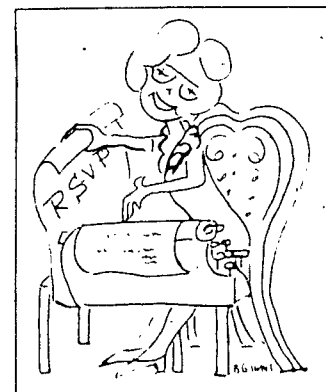

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program offers an open door to all those who have passed their 60th birthday to enter and be active and happy in giving service to others; sharing their time and energy makes life a great deal more interesting for others and at the same time keeps them on their toes. Volunteers are needed to visit shut-ins in their homes and perhaps to do their marketing or drug store shopping for them.

Also, we'd surely appreciate hearing from you if you know of someone who would appreciate being called daily.

RSVP is not in competition with other volunteer programs...rather it complements them by furnishing the help they need to function more efficiently. An important facet of the program is that it furnishes free Life and Accident coverage to the volunteers as they travel back and forth and while on assignment. Also, if you use your own car the mileage is paid. VOLUNTEERING WILL COST YOU NOTHING!!

MOVE FORWARD...don't let the years after you reach 60 put you into a wheelchair... call the RSVP office today (467-9204) and Mrs. Millie Fisher, the director, or Mrs. Theresa James, asst. director, will make you feel welcome to join the happy throng of volunteers (they now number 179 and have given more than 33,000 hours to date), who have discovered service to others is the lifeline to staying young in mind and body.

Frederick selected for national publication

Dan Vellian Frederick, Jr. of Bay St. Louis has been selected for inclusion in the 1974 edition of the Awards of America for 1974, according to Doug Blankenship, chairman of the board of advisors for the national awards publication.

Now in its tenth year, Outstanding Young Men of America is an annual biographical compilation sponsored by leading men's civic, service and professional organizations. The Awards volume features the accomplishments of approximately 6,300 young men of exceptional abilities and achievements from across the country.

Criteria for inclusion in Outstanding Young Men of America are service to others, professional excellence, business advancement, charitable activities and civic and professional recognition. The young men chosen for this distinction are between the ages of 21 and 35.

Alvan C. Gillem II, Lt. General, USAF, and author of an introductory message to the 1973 edition of the Awards volume said, "The young men in this book are... men to whom 'duty, honor, country' is not a corny and outmoded catch phrase. Their track record to date stamps them as potentially the 'best of the best.' Men with an appreciation for combining their own drive and ability with the wisdom and experience of their elders in working to make this country America the beautiful!"

Nominations for the awards publication are made by civic organizations, Jaycee chapters, college alumni associations, and military commandants.

The 1974 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America is scheduled for publication and national distribution in November of this year.

Hancock County RSVP a United Way agency

Your United Way initiated, and is the grantee of the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), which began in May 1973 and has since supplied an ever increasing range of volunteer services to Hancock County. Currently 179 volunteers are serving and to date more than 33,000 man hours of work have been contributed to the community.

RSVP volunteers meet the needs of The Older American Area-wide Model Project by doing office work in the information and referral office and teaching classes for the Hancock Recreation Program, which include handicrafts, ceramics, small electrical appliance repair, quilting, making Christmas tree ornaments, and dancing. Now that the Spend-the-Day Center has been added volunteers help there, too.

As many as 37 volunteers weekly are involved with packaging and delivering Meals-on-Wheels and serving the Nutrition VII Program, known as congregating feeding.

Some 35 volunteers go weekly to visit shut-ins - some to The County Home and Gulf View Haven and others to private residences.

Recently a large group of Spend-the-Day participants formed a chorale group and it is their pleasure to sing at the two Nursing Homes. An RSVP singing group known as The Dixie Belles and Beaux often sing for recreation.

Many volunteers help with recreation - one volunteer always hooks up his own loud speakers for the sing-alongs, bingo games and monthly birthday parties.

Both men and women volunteers bake cakes for each occasion and a pianist graciously plays all the memorable tunes. Those who like art work give many hours to RSVP preparing for awards parties and coloring needed on their newsletters.

A dozen volunteers go to Headstart to read to the children and currently the newest station is enjoying much popularity with some 28 volunteers servicing Waveland's new Hospitality Center.

Volunteers have compiled comprehensive lists of Senior Citizens and their needs under disaster conditions for the use of American Red Cross and Civil Defense. The Blood Bank uses RSVP volunteers twice yearly and soon we expect to have volunteers working for the Humane Society.

One of the most popular volunteer assignments is telephone reassurance. Some 26 volunteers call one or more shut-ins daily and often this leads to the caller making personal visits to these shut-ins and fast friendships result.

Officials and Pink Ladies of Hancock County General Hospital give many hours to the organization and RSVP benefits by some 60 hours monthly.

Thanks to the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, the county supervisors and the United Way, RSVP has been able to meet its 20 percent funding this year.

Security Savings in new location

The Security Savings and Loan Company in Gulfport reopened Friday. Now under new management, the Security Savings office in Gulfport is located on the first floor of the Markham Hotel.

To celebrate their reopening, Security Savings held several drawings Friday. Four People won $50 passbook accounts; they were Fox Arrington of Gulfport, Jason R. Mason of Biloxi, Gordon R. Lee of Saucier, and Betty Bowering of Gulfport. The big winner was Norma Knight of Long Beach who won a $100 passbook account.

Security Savings, which will be open from 8-4 Monday through Friday, has assets of $7 million. Their new president and chairman of the board is Charles A. Carter.

The manager of the Gulfport office is R. Fred Moore of Picayune. He has two years experience with Banker's Trust and has also owned and operated an employment agency.

The assistant manager, Allen Cruthirds, who was a public relations consultant with Banker's Trust, released the following statement on Friday: "The directors, officials, and employees of Security Savings and Loan are very pleased with the turnout of those who came and joined our activities at our new office."

Waller to meet with President on inflation

Governor Bill Waller is urging President Gerald Ford to use the powers of the Presidency in mobilizing the Nation's resources to beat inflation by solving the problems of the energy crisis.

The Governor will present his proposals to the President at the Summit Conference on Inflation, which gets under way in Washington tomorrow.

Waller is one of 11 Governors from around the Nation invited to participate in this conference.

"We will never solve the problems of inflation," Waller said, "until we solve the problems of the energy crisis. We must undertake a full scale plan of mobilization aimed at making our country self-sufficient in energy needs."

The Governor said he would urge President Ford to use the power of his office to suspend independent operation of various federal agencies dealing with energy and place their functions under one coordinating energy office.

"Streamlining these federal agencies will save a great deal of time in implementing development of alternate sources of energy, such as nuclear generating plants," Waller said.

In preparation for the Washington meeting, Governor Waller has held two state-level conferences.

1975 OLDSMOBILE CUTLASS S COLONNADE COUPE—Oldsmobile's mid-size Cutlass line-up in 1975 offers 11 models in four body styles. The Cutlass, Starfires, Omegas, Delta 88, Ninety-Eights and Toronados go on sales tomorrow, Sept. 27 at Hille Oldsmobile in Bay St. Louis. The 1975 Cutlass series includes the base Cutlass, Cutlass Supreme, Cutlass Salon and Vista Cruiser. A new, wider, protective body side moulding with a bright accent is available on all 1975 Cutlasses. Tempomatic semi-automatic air conditioning, introduced on Oldsmobile's full-size models in 1974, is also available.

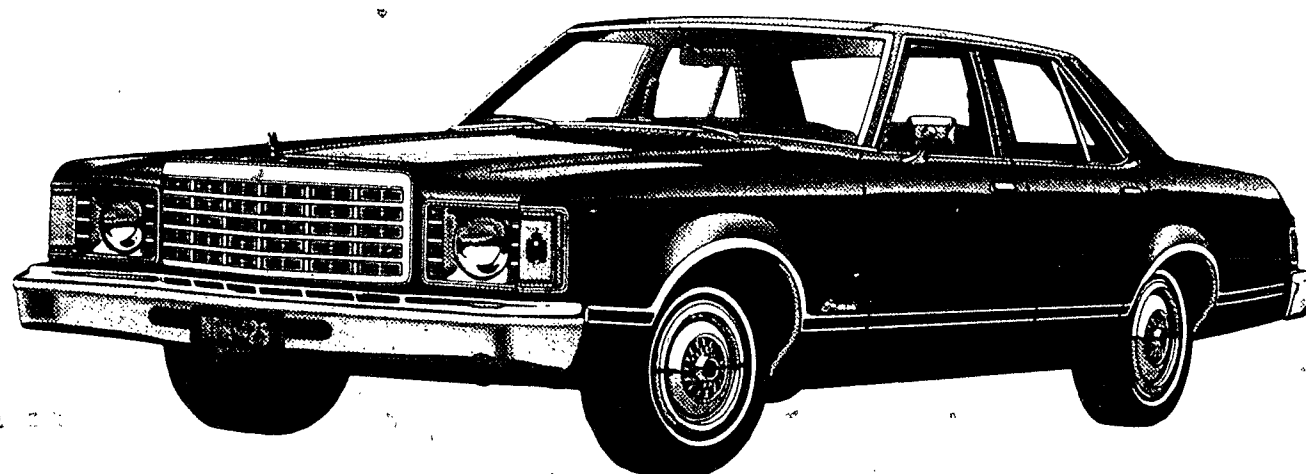

NEW FLAIR FOR AMERICA'S FAVORITE — The standard Chevrolet, America's No. 1 car choice, offers a new level of luxury for 1975 and presents a different look in front that gives separate identity to both the Impala and the top-of-the-line Caprice Classic model shown. The 1975 Chevrolets make their appearance at Turan-Lane Chevrolet in Bay St. Louis, tomorrow, Sept. 27 with styling changes in two new roof lines for four-door and sport sedan. The regular-size Chevrolets and station wagons are available in 15 models, in three series. Caprice Classic, Impala and Bel Air.

1975 BUICK ELECTRA 225 HARDTOP — As luxury cars go, Buick Electra is something of a sleeper. That is it delivers what a luxury car should deliver — superb convenience—without, well, flaunting the fact. Like an iceberg, most of Electra's substance is beneath the surface. A complete line of Buicks and Pontiacs make the scene at tomorrow Schuffert's Pontiac, Buick and GMC in Bay St. Louis. Inside Electra, luxury abounds. Power windows are standard, of course. The Full-Flow ventilation system is power operated so that it quietly brings outside air through your car, even when you're standing in traffic. Leading the pack of Pontiacs in 1975 is the Grand Prix. If Pontiac built only one car in 1975, it would be a Grand Prix because G. P. combines what we know about styling, ride, performance and comfort in one classic road car.

AUTO '75 PREVIEW

Drugs and your health

by John F. Russell, M.D.

In recent years, as we are all aware, there has been a tremendous increase in the use of drugs...not to improve physical health or to reduce symptoms of mental illness, but rather for pleasure. There has also been an increase in this country in the abuse of other substances, again for pleasure at the expense of health.

The most widely abused substance, causing more health problems than all others combined is...FOOD. There are more and more people in this society of abundance using food irresponsibly, gorging themselves on candies and creams, pies and pastries, or just plain overeating. As these foodaholics sit in front of the television set, their otherwise idle hands are stuffing all sorts of "goodies" into their mouths. When nervous or upset, they reach for food to console them just as an alcoholic reaches for a drink. And how difficult it is to "kick the habit!"

The food junkie may go "cold turkey" for a few days, or may even last a week or two, but in most cases, willpower is lost, and the pounds are back all too soon.

The problem is obvious to everyone. The food abusers are seen everywhere. They outnumber other types of addicts to such an extent that there is no comparison possible. One has only to glance around casually to see multitudes of obese, flabby people eating themselves into an early grave.

The thousands of books on the subject, the innumerable new fad diets that are tried and forgotten, the advertisements for miracle pills, exercise machines and no-

exercise machines, and the many fat people clubs that have sprung up practically overnight, all attest to this great problem of addiction to fattening foods. There are Weight-Watchers and TOPS, Overeaters Anonymous and other such plans to rehabilitate the addict, but the success rate for curing the "fatly" is not much better than for curing the alcoholic or junkie. There are SPAs and health farms costing from a few dollars a week to thousands, all designed to rehabilitate the food addict, take off pounds, slim and trim the body.

What are the actual dangers? Besides the obvious unattractive appearance of the overweight individual, obesity is actually hazardous to one's health. Excess fat puts a strain on the heart as it has to pump harder and faster. Fat deposits accumulate on all organs of the body, making it more difficult for them to function. The body's resources are depleted as they try to overcome the extra work involved in keeping the fat person healthy. Everything is more difficult to do, even breathing. If surgery is necessary, the risk of complications is much greater. All in all, excess weight takes years off a person's life.

The remedy is so simple...proper eating habits, nourishing foods rather than "junk" foods, elimination of snacks between meals, and just plain good sense is all that is required. Exercise to keep the body healthy and active is also a help. But most important of all is the recognition that the food addict has a very real problem, and one that is very difficult to overcome.

Let's take a good look at ourselves in the mirror before we push this out of our minds. Again we must practice the responsible use rather than the abuse of substances. Let us remember that we should "eat to live" not "live to eat" and we'll all live longer and healthier lives.

NOTE: Inquiries from readers should now be sent directly to Dr. John Russell, 20 Keyser Lane, Gulfport, Miss. 39501. Dr. Russell has resigned as director of the Drug Abuse Clinic.

Mayor requests young deer for Waveland

Waveland Mayor John Longo has written the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission requesting a pair of young deer - preferably a buck and a doe - to keep in the Waveland Memorial Park. The Mayor, who said the deer would be tamed and kept in a protected area of the park, would hopefully produce a family of deer, some of which would be transferred to Buccaneer State Park at a later date.

Longo Friday briefly discussed similar plans for a "petting zoo" at the state park with State Park Commissioner Perry Gibson. Some time in the next year, on completion of the first and second phases of the state park development, Longo and Gibson discussed the possibility of adding a children's zoo to the park attractions. The zoo would house young animals indigenous to this area, such as deer, raccoons, opossums, foxes, rabbits, and the like.

Father, sons collaborate to produce scientific books

The first of two books, co-authored by a Waveland resident with one of his two sons, has been released for publication by Quantum Publishers, Inc. of New York.

Orrin H. Pilkey, 415 Piney Ridge Rd., and his son Dr. Walter D. Pilkey, co-authored the engineering text "Mechanics of Solids." The senior Pilkey, a retired engineer, was formerly associated with the General Electric Co. at the NASA test facility in Hancock County.

Dr. Pilkey is a professor of engineering science at the University of Virginia.

On his retirement in 1970, Mr. Pilkey agreed to co-author a book with each of his sons in their respective fields. Dr. Pilkey and his father spent four years writing the engineering book.

The second effort, on oceanography, is nearing completion, and is in collaboration with Dr. Orrin H. Pilkey, Jr., a professor of marine geology at Duke University.

The engineering book is unusual in that more than one-third of the numerical problems are in the modernized metric system - the International System of Units (S.I.) used in most of the world except the U.S.A.

Pilkey says the S.I. system is much easier to work with than the U.S. system, although it is difficult to learn to "think metric," after years of thinking in our usual feet, inches, pounds, and gallons. Another Waveland engineer, E. Wiley Cole, critically reviewed portions of the manuscript.

Saudi Arabia has one of the great oil reservoirs of the world.

It produces about seven per cent of the total world output.

Flu vaccine to be available through State Health Dept.

The Mississippi State Board of Health will again offer influenza vaccine to high-risk patients enrolled in the agency's Chronic Illness programs, according to Dr. Laurance Clark, director of the Chronic Illness Program. "Repeated observations during influenza epidemics show that mortality is almost completely restricted to the chronically ill and elderly, especially those over 65," Dr. Clark said. "Persons in these categories, not enrolled in health department programs should contact their physicians to arrange for influenza vaccination."

Some 100,000 doses of vaccine will be required and the entire operation by the Board of Health to those in its Chronic Illness program is to be completed by mid-November, according to Dr. Clark.

"Only one dose of vaccine is necessary this year," he said. "Multiple doses are no longer recommended even for those being vaccinated for the first time."

"Second doses within a given year do not increase antibody levels significantly and the only occasion for more than one dose would be the late appearance of a new virus," Dr. Clark said.

This year, only the new 1974-75 bivalent vaccine is being used, according to Dr. Clark.

"Influenza occurs every year with wide variation in extent and intensity," Dr. Clark said. "Despite the presence of two new viral agents, Mississippi experienced a relatively light flu season during 1973-74. We expect that a high level of upper respiratory syndrome will be of general occurrence and influenza will occur in sporadic outbreaks."

"Influenza vaccine is the best available means for protecting those at highest risk," Dr. Clark said. "The unusual severity of influenza on the aged and the chronically ill of any age is well documented. Con-

Insurance pays out billions of dollars

Someday is getting a lot of money from health insurance companies. A record $11.3 billion in health insurance benefits was paid out by insurance companies in 1973.

keeping you in touch

By F. M. Kyle, Jr.
Gulf Coast District Manager

Fall is the time when many families have students returning to college or going away to school for the first time. It's also a time for football week—ends, traveling, and fun. To keep in touch with all the family and make plans for big events, call long distance and dial your calls direct, the economical plus way. To be sure you reach your loved ones every time, set a regular calling day at a special time. On week days make it after 5 P.M., when rates are lower.

Fall is also the time to put up some of the last of your fall garden produce and this season more and more Mississippians (young and old, experienced and novice) are canning and freezing fresh fruits and vegetables—later than ever before. Wise homemakers are stocking their pantries and freezers to stretch food budgets.

To get new ideas on canning and freezing processes as well as efficient storage ideas, call Mrs. Norine Barnes, at 467-5454, our local home economist for Hancock County.

She can give you lots of information on how to make your processed vegetables more tasty. The Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service has published several booklets and pamphlets on these subjects, and your home economist will be glad to send them to you upon request.

If you're inexperienced at this canning/freezing task, you might want to get some special tips from your mother or grandmother. Give her a call—she just might tell you the special seasoning she uses in her canned homemade soup!

And remember, wherever your loved ones live—in state or out—you can dial them direct because now all SCB phones in Mississippi have direct dial facilities.

The people of South Central Bell work constantly to improve and expand telephone service—to make communications faster, easier, and more economical for you.

Reflections of the past

NAMES, PLEASE - Mrs. Forrest Favre, 505 Piernas Dr., Bay St. Louis, who submitted this photo of the St. Joseph's 1923-24 Academy basketball team, is asking if any of the girls pictured are still in the Bay area. If Echo readers (or '23-'24 alumnae) can identify these girls, we will be glad to re-run the photo. (Readers are urged to submit photos, taken prior to 1947, to the Echo for use in Reflections. All photos will be returned unharmed at the Echo office. We are holding a number of photos which need to be picked up.)

Pass seeks police chief

Tuesday night the Pass Christian City Council officially accepted the resignation of Police Chief Gerald Peralta. The board of aldermen approved Mayor Saucier's request that Anthony Johnson, who has been with the department six years, be appointed acting police chief.

Mayor Saucier said that the city is looking for a permanent replacement for Peralta. Saucier said that applicants for the position should have law enforcement experience, preferably in law enforcement administration. The salary, said Saucier, is negotiable - being commensurate with experience and training.

The board also approved the payment of $53,153 to DeLaurel Engineers of New Orleans for the work completed on the sewer study.

Mrs. Janet Pace and Mrs. Joan Mead were approved as two new city librarians at a salary of $2 an hour. The board also approved funding the Bicentennial Committee $25 a month for the next 12 months. This is the same rate that the committee has been receiving since March.

The board took under advisement a request by Russell Ringer to provide the Chamber of Commerce a $1,000 a year budget. Because of rising postal and utility rates, Russell claims that the chamber needs a larger budget than the $30 a month it is currently operating on. Ringer said that neighboring cities allot substantially more for their chambers' budgets.

In another matter, the board of aldermen took under advisement a tax reduction request for the Gulf Plaza Shopping Center. Representatives of the Plaza claim that they were promised favorable tax rates for rebuilding after Hurricane Camille.

VETS USING G. I. BILL

Primates used for cocaine research

Working independently but in a mutual research field, man's abuse of drugs, two University of Mississippi scientists have received $249,000 in grants for a wide-ranging study of cocaine.

They are Dr. Marvin Wilson, associate professor of Pharmacology, and Dr. Arthur Kibbe, assistant professor of Pharmacology. Also working in the two projects, sponsored by the National Institute on Drug Abuse, will be Dr. John Bedford, research associate in Pharmacology.

Both projects basically involve the self administration of cocaine by non-human primates, although the programs were funded separately and have different objectives.

Researchers at Ole Miss will use the Rhesus monkey because of its similarity to man and propensity to self administer drugs which man abuses.

Self administration by monkeys is achieved mechanically after the animal responds by pulling a chain or pressing a special lever. The drug is administered intravenously.

Dr. Wilson's $161,000 three year grant will test procedures to determine or predict the relative potential abuse liability of various stimulant drugs, while Dr. Kibbe's two year $88,000 grant will "determine the overall pattern of cocaine in the body and how fast the drug can be metabolized and excreted" as well as effect of relative blood levels of cocaine on behavior. Dr. Kibbe's research will be repeated with d-Amphetamine, another stimulant drug.

Together the Ole Miss studies will manipulate and observe blood levels of cocaine in an attempt to modify self administration behavior and seek answers to such questions as: Can animals become tolerant to cocaine? What can be done to alter blood levels to speed up metabolism? How much drug is in a volume of blood?

"This is the first time these type studies are being done at the same place and time," Dr. Wilson said.

Ask for identification

People getting supplemental security income payments should ask to see identification when visited by social security representatives, according to Charles E. Wofford, social security district manager in Gulfport.

The supplemental security income program has established a nationally uniform income floor for people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 and over or blind or disabled. The law requires that eligibility for supplemental security income and the amount of the monthly payments be redetermined from time to time.

"The Social Security Administration gets in touch with people to get information about income, living arrangements, and other factors that might affect their supplemental security income payments," Wofford said. "This may be done by a questionnaire in the mail or by personal interview in the home or social security office."

"Bonafide social security representatives are glad to identify themselves," Wofford said. "They never ask you to give them money to have something done. It's their duty to help people - in any way they can - to get supplemental security income payments in the right amount."

People can get information about supplemental security income payments by calling, visiting, or writing any social security office. The Gulfport social security office is at 02015 Pass Road. The phone number is 1-896-1323.

Annunciation plans Fair

Annunciation School P.T.A. held its first meeting September 18 in the school cafeteria. Father Bertin addressed the parents concerning the sports program at the school.

A Halloween fair was discussed and plans are underway for the October 30 event, which will be held from 1:30 - 2:30 p.m. in the school gym.

The annual Turkey Bowl was also discussed and the plans are in the making for this event.

Mrs. Barbara Moran was elected P.T.A. secretary for the 1974-1975 school year.

A short slide presentation showing the activities at the beginning of school was viewed by the parents.

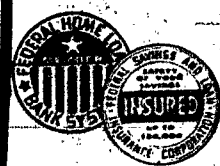

The good news called in this week by Waveland resident Milton Durel that the milk delivered to his door had dropped from 88 cents a half gallon to 75 cents, was cancelled out by the meteoric rise in the price of sugar, which at his writing hovers at $1.12 for 100 pounds.

Student named merit semifinalist

Brother Lee Barker, principal of St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis, has announced that William Wesselman has been named as a Semifinalist in the competition for about 3,400 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1975. The Merit Program Semifinalists were the highest scorers in each state on the 1973 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

The approximately 15,000

Semifinalists represent the top one-half of one percent of the nation's most academically talented students. Over 90 percent of the Semifinalists are expected to become Finalists and thus become eligible for scholarships to the college of their choice. These Finalists will be announced in April, 1975.

Wesselman, a senior at St. Stanislaus, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wesselman, 318 Commagere Blvd., Bay St. Louis. He is presently in his third year at St. Stanislaus. He is a member of the National Honor Society and is on the school track team.

The program, Labels for Education, sponsored by Campbell Soup Company, is offered to elementary schools, both private and public.

"Between now and December 31 we hope to collect enough Campbell's Soup labels to earn a Slide Projector," Sister Patricia, principal, stated. "Our students are saving their labels and they would appreciate it if friends of the school would do the same."

Any Campbell's Soup or Beans label counts in the drive. A participating school sends in the assigned number of labels for the particular items selected.

Ole Miss researchers take a new look at the tulip tree

There may be a money tree after all.

University of Mississippi scientists are conducting research on Mississippi's familiar tulip tree, sometimes called the yellow poplar because of its greenish-yellow tulip-shaped flowers, as a new source for the potential antibiotic, liriodenine.

Principal researcher is Dr. Charles D. Hufford, assistant professor of Pharmacognosy, aided by Dr. Larry Robertson, associate professor of Pharmacognosy, and senior Pharmacy student Mary Jo Funderburk of Hattiesburg.

"The heartwood of the tulip tree is a potential source for liriodenine," explained Dr. Hufford. "We have isolated the constituent and know its chemical structure so now we are looking at related structures in an attempt to find an even better antibiotic."

Dr. Hufford said the most promising medicinal use would be that of an anti-fungal agent. "The active constituent has inhibited the growth of a number of bacteria and fungi," he said, "and there are a number of serious fungal infections with relatively few drugs which can be used effectively and safely."

Since Dr. Hufford and his associates have found liriodenine to have a low toxicity, it could be used to treat serious fungal infections as well as more common topical fungal infections, such as athlete's foot.

Recently the Ole Miss professor presented his findings to a joint meeting of the Academy of Pharmaceutical Sciences and American Pharmacognosy Society of Chicago. The research is funded in part by the Committee on Faculty Research at Ole Miss and the Research Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences.

The tulip tree heartwood was one of 150 plant extracts screened under supervision of Dr. Robertson, while Miss Funderburk, a fifth year student, spent last summer assisting Dr. Hufford in research.

"This is a fairly new approach," Dr. Hufford said of investigating plants as potential sources for antibiotics. "Most antibiotics today are obtained from microorganisms."

End around

Long Beach quarterback Jimmy Nelson made it look easy Friday night as he cut the corner on this end sweep in the second period against Ocean Springs. The play covered nine yards and was good for a Bearcat touchdown. The Bearcats ran over Ocean Springs 29-3.

Long Beach rolls past Greyhounds

by David Pierson

Pete Price's 90 yard kickoff return helped the Long Beach Bearcats beat Ocean Springs 29-3 Friday night in the first Gulf Coast Conference game for both teams. Ocean Springs was trailing 13-3 at the half, still very much in the game, but Price's second half kickoff return ended any Greyhound dreams of an upset.

Although Long Beach won the game handily, they had problems holding onto the ball early in the game. In the first quarter, Ocean Springs recovered a Long Beach fumble on the 18 yard line, and six plays later, Louis Meaut kicked a 22 yard field goal. Ocean Springs led 3-0.

Then the Bearcats fumbled again. This time after they had driven to the Ocean Springs 25. Ocean Springs then moved quickly up the field as running back Danny Ouler picked up 15 yards on a draw play and then another ten yards on an end run. Long Beach was penalized 15 yards, and Ocean Springs had a first down on the Bearcat 35 yard line. Robin Morris then intercepted a pass on the 24 yard line, and Long Beach was never in serious trouble the rest of the night.

Midway through the second quarter, the Bearcats got the ball on the Ocean Springs 41 yard line and were quickly in the Greyhound's backyard with a series of running plays. Then Jimmy Nelson provided the key play of the drive with a 19 yard pass to Price at the nine yard line. On his third run from inside the ten, Albert Snow scored from the one yard line with 4:46 remaining in the first half. The point after kick was wide, but Long Beach led 6-3.

Moments later John Osborn set up the second Bearcat score when he fell on an Ocean Springs fumble at the Greyhound 37. Nelson again passed to Price, and again the play netted 19 big yards. Keeping the ball on the ground the rest of the way, the Bearcats overcame 18 yards of four plays with Nelson scoring the second TD on a keeper from nine yards out. The PAT was good by James DeLoe. To give the Bearcats a 14-6 halftime lead.

Long Beach's final touchdown came with less than a minute to play in the third quarter as Snow, breaking tackles, ripped through the Ocean Springs defense for 36 yards.

In the final period, Ocean Springs quarterback, Louis Meaut, tried to stage a comeback by passing deep, but defenseman Bob Richards picked off two interceptions inside of two minutes.

Snow was the leading ground gainer for the night, piling up 121 yards in 18 carries.

Score by quarters:
Ocean Springs 3 0 0 0 3
Long Beach 0 13 16 0 29

All alone

Notre Dame, 32-9

by EDWARD FAVRE

The Notre Dame Rebels of Biloxi outscored the Hancock North Central Hawks 32-9 last Friday night in a Pascagoula River Conference football game.

The first score of the game came when Hawk quarterback Revette Shaw, kicked a 36-yard field goal in the first quarter.

Notre Dame got their first score in the second period when quarterback Mike Viator passed to split end Stan Dellenger for 37 yards. Viator hit Dellenger again for the two-point conversion making the score 8-3.

Later in the second quarter Viator released a bomb to Charles Sentell that was good for 58 yards. Viator passed to Steve Baronich for the two-point conversion closing the half 16-3.

In the third quarter the Rebels got on the scoreboard again following a 28-yard runback of a Hawk pass by Jimmy Ryder. John Brauchle scored for the Rebels from one-yard out. The two-point conversion was good giving the Rebels a 24-3 lead.

Rebel halfback Bert Pickard ended Notre Dame's scoring with a 47-yard romp in the fourth quarter. Viator passed to Dellenger for the two-point conversion.

The Hawks put together six points in the third quarter on a 12-yard pass from quarterback Shaw to Tommy Larsen. The two-point conversion attempt was no good.

Three members of the Pernicelli family - Jack, Mike and Sam, Jr. - were responsible for this string of speckles which they caught Sunday afternoon in Heron Bay. The catch totaled 158 specks and four red fish, using Shad Rigs.

Rebels embarrassed; Prep games forecast

Dan Barber
Echo Sports Editor

Noticeable this week after the Ole Miss defeat at the hands of a ready Memphis State team, there was much wailing and gnashing of teeth in the rebel camp.

Typically the flag is run-up after every Rebel defeat at the hands of the unheralded Tigers bemoaning the Ole Miss attack rather than acknowledging a growing Tiger strength among the big boys.

Last year's defeat in Jackson was declared a fluke because Rebel tried and true headmaster Johnny Vaught was not there to personally lead his boys to victory.

The Ole Miss coaching staff privately went into Saturday's game with State in Memphis smug that they would avenge all their supporters who wanted to holler holly today once again.

After a stunning 17-0 upset over Missouri the weekend before, it appeared that they would do just that.

Apparently nobody told Tiger head coach Fred Pancoast and crew that last year's win was just a fluke though, as the team played from the beginning like they were the ones favored to win. Pollsters picked them 13 point underdogs.

Excuses this past week sounded again like the cliché "They were good, but we were worse."

Well, I know it wasn't a fluke and Ole Miss fans can no longer afford to take Memphis State for granted.

On the High School scene this week, the Bay High Tigers will be attempting to put together their first win of the season against the Hancock North Central Hawks here in Tiger stadium.

Bay High, under first year head coach, Woody Alliston, has dropped its first three games: Stone County 15-13, Pass Christian 20-7, and Harrison Central 20-12. The Hawks are also looking for their first win of the season after three losses.

Hancock North Central head coach Irvin Favre and the Hawks are a slight underdog again going into Friday's game.

The Pass High Pirates face St. Martin on the road in Pascagoula River Conference action this weekend. The Pirates have 1-0-1 conference record with a 20-6 win over Vancleave and a 6-6 tie with D'Iberville last Friday. St. Martin has only played one conference game to date, winning over Vancleave 13-6 and is 2-1-0 overall.

Stanislaus will be attempting to bounce back from last week's disappointing 13-7 loss to St. John when the Rock-A-Chaws travel to Biloxi to meet Notre Dame Friday.

Notre Dame, a conference powerhouse, is likely to provide more offense than the Rock-A-Chaws can handle and it looks like coach Barry Jones will suffer his second loss of the season. Stanislaus' conference record is 1-1-0.

The awesome Long Beach offense, which last week destroyed Ocean Springs 29-3 promises to roll away again, this week over the Stone County Tomcats. The game will be played in Wiggins.

Rounding out the prep scene, the Coast Episcopal Red Raiders will meet Lutheran High School of New Orleans at home Saturday at 4 p.m.

'GREAT' Pincay: name fits the man

The name Laffit Pincay Jr. has a nice sound. It should belong to a man who lives dangerously, lusts for competition and performs his art with an air of insouciance. The name fits the man who wears it.

In today's racing, he is the jockey who causes a stir. The whip has passed from Eddie Arcaro to Bill Shoemaker to Laffit Pincay Jr. In a world of small, skillful men, he has the status of a demigod.

"Pincay," says Kenny Church, "has the head of Arcaro, the hands of Shoemaker and the hustle of Longden. He's supergood, a truly great rider."

Church himself was a fine rider before he dismantled and found work in the publicity department at Del Mar, Calif. Now superlatives rolled trippingly off his tongue because Pincay was making one of his rare appearances at the seaside race course.

He had jetted in from New York to ride Miss Tokyo, a 1-to-9 favorite, in the Del Mar Debutante. No matter that the filly unaccountably went wide in the stretch and finished fourth. Even demigods hear boos.

Pride of Mississippi telecast nationally

HATTIESBURG, Miss. - Senior Bowl in Mobile in January, 1975. The Pride of Mississippi - marching band of the University of Southern Mississippi - will be 190 strong as it takes to the field this year.

According to Dr. Joe Barry Mullins, director of university bands, and Kelly Love, director of the marching band, the unit has 30 more members than in the prior year.

Despite the lack of home football games - while the USM stadium is being added to - the band will perform during at least four half-time shows. They will also be seen during the nationally televised

BOXING GREATS

"On January 28, 1974, Muhammad Ali and Joe Frazier fought the 'Rematch of the Century.' After 12 hotly contested rounds Ali emerges the victor and establishes himself as the No. 1 contender for Heavyweight Champion George Foreman's title."

Teacher exams set for Nov 9

The National Teacher Examinations will be administered on Nov. 9, at the University of Southern Mississippi which has been designated as a test center. According to Dr. L. Conrad Welker, Jr. USM, many college seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for certification, licensure, or those seeking positions in school systems which encourage or require the NTE will be taking the tests.

Last year approximately 100,000 candidates registered to take the examinations which are designed to assess cognitive knowledge and understanding in professional education, general education and subject-field specialization. Bulletins of Information describing registration procedures and containing registration forms as well as sample test questions may be obtained from room 221, Weathersby Hall, USM, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, N.Y. 08540.

Winning combination

Even though the Rock-A-Chaws couldn't quite muster what was needed to overcome a determined St. John's Friday, a sporadic offense did provide moments of well tuned execution. Here Stanislaus linemen Gary Corcoran (73), Brent Logan (62), and David Erwin (75) open running room for halfback Mike Russell as he takes the handoff from quarterback David Weir.

St. John Eagles trip Stanislaus 13-7

by Edward Favre

The St. John Eagles of Gulfport stuck twice in the first half and then hung on for another half to upset favored St. Stanislaus Friday 13-7 in Pascagoula River Conference action at Rock-A-Chaw stadium.

Stanislaus took the lead with 4:08 to play in the first quarter when Mike Russell took a handoff from quarterback Art Scafide and raced in from 10 yards to climax a 49-yard drive. Mike Price made good on the extra point attempt from placement making the score 7-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Not to be outdone, the Eagles bounced back with a touchdown of their own on their next possession, guided downfield by quarterback Pat Prejean. Prejean scored on a one yard keeper. The extra point attempt by Ricky Villareal from placement was no good, leaving the score 7-6.

With 27 seconds to go in the second quarter, Prejean again took the ball into the Rock-A-Chaw end zone from the one yard line. Villareal's PAT was good from placement this time giving St. John a 13-7 lead at the end of the first half.

Both Eagle touchdowns were scored after a Rock-A-Chaw turnover. Stanislaus was plagued throughout both halves with fumbles and pass interceptions killing several drives.

Stanislaus is now 2-1-0 overall and 1-1-0 in the conference. The Rocks travel to Biloxi Friday to play the Notre Dame Rebels who defeated Hancock North Central 32-9 in other Conference action.

GOOD NEW BOOK

Scarsdale, New York is the setting for the strange but true adventures of an advertising man named George Reichart, who feeds birds and small animals in his backyard. What happens when his neighbors object is the core of a new book, "The Goose From Scarsdale," written by Clive Howard and published by Lyle Stuart. Reviewers have called it warm, funny and wonderful.

HATTIESBURG—When Southern Mississippi's Golden Eagles challenge nationally-ranked (pre-season) Alabama Saturday night in Birmingham's Legion Field it will mark the 17th time the two clubs have met.

Alabama's Crimson Tide, once again loaded with talented players, holds a 13-2-1 lead in the series, but Eagle followers still remember some golden years in the 1950's.

Take 1953 first. Alabama, which had whipped Southern six consecutive years, owned number one pre-season ranking prior to the opener for both teams. But when the smoke cleared at Montgomery's Crumpton Bowl, the score read Southern 25, Alabama 19. Alabama went on to win the Southeastern Conference championship and played in the Cotton Bowl. Southern finished 9-1 and played in the Sun Bowl.

Then came 1954. To prove or disprove any doubts about the '53 win being a fluke, Southern popped the Tide with a 7-2 decision.

The two didn't meet in '55 but clashed again in '56. One of Alabama's leading newspapers had this headline after the game ended: "Tide Ties Southern, 14-13."

There have been some lean years for Southern in the series, before and after the "golden" ones. Like 53-0 and 40-7 spankings in '50 and '51. And like in the last three meetings ('59, '71, '72), in which the Tide totaled 153 points to Southern's 31.

The '68 game, played in Mobile, was a thriller. Southern led 14-7 after three quarters but the Tide put 10 points on the board in the last period to take a 17-14 victory. "Now it's 1974. The results will be in about 10 p.m. Saturday. The game will have a 7:30 p.m. kickoff.

PRC wins opener

With one game and one win under their belt the Pearl River Junior College Wildcats will travel to Ellisville Saturday night to take on the Jones Bobcats.

Pearl River opened their long over-due season here in Poplarville Saturday night by defeating the Mississippi Delta Trojans 17-6 in an interdivisional contest. It was sweet revenge for the Cats who lost the state crown to the Trojans last season, 21-17.

New head coach Harvey Seligman and his staff, Herbert Morris and David Johnson, were understandably elated over the opening win. "I thought the boys looked very good in this first game," Seligman said, "when the game started I really didn't know if we were going to do good or not, but it turned out that we were really ready."

"Our defense got better, we were able to stop their running game, something we had trouble with last season," the head coach said. In fact statistics show Delta gained only 41 yards on the ground and 45 through the air.

PRC on the other hand racked up 283 total yards, 33 coming through the air. Fullback Mike Powers led the rushing attack picking up 135 yards in 25 carries. Larry Tyrone got 50 in 14 tries.

"It is usually easier for the defense to look better early in the year, but I still believe the offense will improve each game," Seligman said.

Leading the forward wall was end Louis Jordan, linebackers Ed Davis and Jerry Evans, and nose guard Jimmy Pergiclaro. The backfield play of Willie Bullock also sparked. The former Petal star made numerous tackles and collected the game's only interception.

Jones will furnish the Wildcats opposition this week in an important South division contest. Jones has not won in three times this year but they are improving. "We're not expecting an easy time," Seligman commented, "we always have a hard time with the Bobcats, especially at Ellisville."

PRC will go with the same starting offensive and defensive units. Game time is 7:30 p.m. at Ellisville.

OWNERS AND DEVELOPERS

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Last weekend was a pleasant one for fishing. Tides were right and the fish were biting. Both fresh and salt water fish were caught. Bass were striking underwater and surface baits. Speckles were caught most anywhere. They too were striking lures on the surface and underneath.

Flounders are being caught on dead shrimp while fishing on the bottom and some are being speared on dark nights out front.

The dove season opened officially on September 21 and will remain open until Oct. 13 for the first segment in Zone two. The two remaining segments will be Nov. 9th to Dec. 1 and Dec. 21 to Jan. 13. Toured the county Saturday and didn't see a dove, maybe they are waiting for cooler weather?

The Teal Duck season was open from Sept. 14 to Sept. 22. Didn't hear of too many being bagged. The real duck season opens on the last of November with the geese season starting in October. More on this hunting later.

Met Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Hargrove from Lumberton, Miss. They do all kinds of fishing and were trying their luck at LaFrance's Camp. Think they caught some salt water fish. Come back more often folks.

Friday was visiting day. Met Linda Lowe, wife of the new owner of LaFrances Camp. Learned that she is one of the best nutria catchers here about. This came from one of our game wardens. Think he was only kidding. This country gal don't know that much about nutria.

Bob Poyadou, captain of a 100 foot boat and his engineer, Donald Neacise, were telling me of the big fish they have been catching out from Grand Isle. Speckles, King Mackerel and even sharks have been landed. Gonna make a trip with you boys, some day.

Alden Garcia, Jr., one of our younger fishermen from Lakeshore has been getting his share of fresh and salt water fish. He also hunts and is getting ready for the hunting season coming up.

James Buddendorff and Kenneth Buddendorff both hunt and fish.

They live in Waveland and go on every occasion. Looking for some real trips soon.

The following article was taken from the Times-Picayune of Sunday and should be of interest to oyster lovers. They state "Best Oyster Crop in 10 years seen."

"Wild life officials and oystermen are saying Louisiana's oyster crop is the most abundant and best in 10 years.

"Thanksgiving and Christmas oysters should be the best in 15 years, says Harry Schaffer, head of the oyster division of the Wild Life and Fisheries Commission.

"Reefs farther than 15 miles out are producing seed and counter oysters for the first time in 20 years, fishermen say. The oyster season opened Sept. 4 and runs until May 30.

"The situation is reminiscent of old times," says Pete Vujnovich, a Plaquemines Parish oysterman. He and Schaffer credited high water and flooding of the Mississippi River in the past two years for the improvement in Louisiana's reefs.

"They said the fresh or 'sweet' flood water pushed salt water back and killed the conches - natural enemies of oysters - in the bays and bayous.

"Vujnovich, whose father was one of Plaquemines' early oystermen, said he inspected beds in the Port Sulphur area last week and found the finest cultivated oysters he's seen in 25 years.

"He said cultivated oysters, which made Louisiana famous as an oyster-producing state, represent only 10 percent of today's production.

"Vujnovich blames the high cost of labor for slack production of cultivated oysters. Despite Louisiana's high unemployment, he says, he can't hire workmen. He says he's paying $15 to $20 a day but workers are demanding $50."

Met two interesting young ladies, Mary T. McLaughlin and Culas Thompson. Believe it or not, these gals operate the "Kiln Bait Shop" at Kiln, Miss. They have a complete line of fish bugs, reels, rods, etc.

For you still fishermen this will be good news and unusual. They carry crickets, live minnows, Florida Pink worms (African Giant worms) and special containers for carrying them.

Kinda new to this section and should be welcomed by fishermen who catch perch and bass.

Ever hear of a fur-bearing trout? I have. Saw a picture of it. The Fur-Bearing Trout is probably the rarest of all known fish. It is found only in the country lakes above timberline that contain it the year around. They feed on high-flying insects frozen in the ice millions of years ago. Only the most daring fishermen try their skills to bag this fuzzy denizen.

Gov. Edwin Edwards has signed a proclamation declaring September 28 as Louisiana Hunting and Fishing Day in recognition of the contributions that state hunters and fishermen have made to conservation and outdoor recreation, according to J. Burton Angelle, director of the Louisiana Wildlife and SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK - Glenn Adwink is an all 'round good person to know. He enjoys fishing, hunting and baseball and eating with the Senior Citizens. Glenn has a mighty good singing voice, too.

PROCLAMATION

Hunting and Fishing Day

Because of the outstanding contributions that America's hunters and fishermen have made to conservation, recreation and the economy, they are deserving of special recognition.

Since the turn of the century, hunters and anglers have been the leaders in nearly all major conservation programs. These sportsmen-conservationists are responsible for the founding of state fish and game departments in all 50 states. They asked that they, themselves, be required to buy licenses and that the money collected be used to support state conservation agencies. In the last 50 years alone, these sportsmen have provided $2.5 Billion for conservation programs.

Hunters and fishermen asked for the establishment of regulated seasons and bag limits so that sportsmen could harvest the annual crop of game and fish without damage to the basic breeding population. The result has been that there are now more deer, elk, antelope and wild turkey in the United States than there were 50 years ago. Further, sportsmen's programs have benefited numerous species of non-game fish and wildlife through habitat development.

Hunters and fishermen, unique in all America, asked that their fishing and hunting equipment be taxed and that the money be used for land acquisition, research and habitat management for fish and wildlife for the enjoyment of all Americans.

Through their publications and organizations - such as the National Wildlife Federation, Ducks Unlimited, Izaak Walton League of America and many others - hunters and fishermen have led the nation in the battle for a better environment and the wise use of our natural resources.

Therefore, We WARREN CARVER & JOHN LONGO, JR., Mayors of the Cities of BAY ST. LOUIS and WAVELAND, MISSISSIPPI, do hereby proclaim September 28, 1974, as BAY-WAVELAND Hunting and Fishing Day and that this day be an annual observance the fourth Saturday of each September. We urge all of our citizens to join with sportsmen-conservationists in a rededication to the wise use of our natural resources and their proper management for the benefit of future generations. Further, We urge all citizens to take part in National Hunting and Fishing Day activities on September 28 to learn more about conservation and outdoor skills.

Some stores are too big . . . it's so easy to get lost among miles and miles of aisles . . . and nobody knows you, and it's very lonesome there . . .

Some stores are too little . . . you won't get lost . . . but you might have to settle for a very small selection . . . and not mind if it's the wrong color . . .

But Shainberg's is just right . . . big enough to have the selection you need . . . to have things like charge accounts and layaways . . . and small enough to learn your way around in very soon . . . and to be very friendly, and know you . . . and you can feel at home there . . .

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Tuttle Bookkeeper

Parker, a businessman, was systematically cheating on his income taxes. One day his conscience-stricken bookkeeper took several incriminating documents out of Parker's safe and handed them over to the Internal Revenue Service.

In short order, Parker was charged with income tax evasion. But in court he insisted that the evidence, having been taken illegally, could not be used against him.

"This clearly falls under the Fourth Amendment," he said, "and the evidence is inadmissible and should be thrown out."

However, the court held the evidence admissible and Parker guilty. The court said the constitutional ban applies only to searches by government agents, not by private individuals.

Courts generally agree. They say the Fourth Amendment was designed to protect citizens from prying by the government, nothing more. Although the private searcher may indeed be committing an offense, the evidence that he finds remains admissible.

The same is true if the evidence is discovered purely by accident. In another case, a departing guest in a motel left a suitcase in his room. The manager, peering into the suitcase, noticed some odd-looking checks. These he reported to the police.

Result: the guest was arrested for possessing forged checks. The judge said that even though the manager had no right to look into the suitcase, the evidence he found was nevertheless admissible in court.

But the rule changes when the search, although conducted by a private person, is done at police instigation. Another motel manager told a policeman that he suspected one of his guests of being a drug pusher. Instructed to search the man's room, he did so—and found heroin.

But this time, the evidence was rejected in court because of the police role in the search.

"The search was just as 'official,'" said the court, "as though the officer had acted in person."

MONK SMITH REGATTA - The Monk Smith Memorial Trophy came home to Bay Waveland Yacht Club for the Regatta but has been returned to New Orleans Yacht Club who last won it in 1964, until it is sailed for next year at BWYC under GYA Capdeville status.

The New Orleans Yacht Club team, Robert Brennan, skipper, and Hoagie Herman, crew, won a very decisive victory in the Open Scot Class with two firsts and a second place finish. Marc Eagan was the winner of the third Scot race, with Gail Entringer and Ellen Eagan crewing.

A wide variety of weather conditions offered quite a challenge to the sailors as the wind velocity varied between zero and 25 mph. Intermittently the bay was covered by black clouds, rain, thunder and lightning, and lots of sunshine.

The first race sailed in a light to medium breeze saw Brennan take the lead in the Scot class with Bubby Eagan second and Larry Taggart of Southern Yacht Club third. Dennis Stieffel led the way in the Junior Sunfish Division; Randy Santa Cruz was second and Amy Chapman third. In the Sunfish Senior Division Ann Stieffel crossed the line first, followed by James Edwards of Gulfport Yacht Club second, and Bill Flanders third.

The second race saw some drastic wind shifts and equally drastic changes in position throughout, but Brennan was consistent and finished first again, with Woody Stieffel second and Larry Taggart third. Wallace Weatherly at Gulfport Yacht Club won the Junior Sunfish race, with his brother William second and his sister Leslie third. First in the Senior Sunfish was Charlie Staehle, with Harry Chapman second and Ann Stieffel third.

For the third and final race Sunday a gusty northeast wind churned up seas in the Bay and caused several break-downs and capsize. Marc Eagan won the Scot race with Brennan second and Bubby Eagan third. Wallace Weatherly won again in the Junior Sunfish, again followed by William; Rod Stieffel was third. Harry Chapman took an early lead in the Senior Sunfish which he held to win by a large margin over second place Ann Stieffel and Bill Flanders third.

Woody Santa Cruz was Regatta Chairman for the event, assisted by John Christensen, Walter Gehrke, Dick Reeves and Ray Stieffel on the Race Committee and Grace Santa Cruz, programs, and Vicky Staehle, breakfast.

WORLD'S LARGEST SHRIMP

A shrimp the size of a large lobster is on display at the Old Spanish Fort Museum in Pascagoula. The shrimp was caught in the Gulf of Mexico by a scientific expedition at a depth far below the usual depth for shrimp. Bright red when first put on display at the museum, the shrimp has now faded to a very light pink.
